Princeton Blairstown Center

Princeton Blairstown Center is a 264 acre non-profit by the Delaware Water Gap that focuses on serving the underprivileged youth from inner-cities to grow emotionally through hands-on project based learning in the beautiful environment.
Teach and interact with over 300 students from inner-cities and help them understand and become more knowledgeable about the environment around them

Develop new curriculum that can be integrated into the Princeton Blairstown Center’s focus on Social and Emotional Learning. I was even able to develop curriculum that fell under my interests in neuroscience while still adding to the children’s experience at camp.
My Experience

- Was able to make up my own curriculum to teach these students
- Learned to adjust and adapt to every variable and student
My New Goals

This opportunity further inspired me to help the children in the younger generations who come from under-resourced communities when I continue my career path, no matter what I do. Even with the many weeks of hard work that sometimes left me tired, there were always children and made me smile and made me realize that this job at PBC was something that I enjoyed doing. I would love to continue integrating the importance of education to these generations. In addition, the people here that are so dedicated to their work have also encouraged me to become a more patient and also personable human to everyone that I come into contact with.
THANK YOU

I would like to say thank you to all the staff, both the summer and the administration, at the Princeton Blairstown Center for pushing me to grow as both an instructor and as a person. Specifically, I would like to thank Ron Franco and Mary Oluokun, my program managers, for supporting me during the whole ten weeks that I was here. I would also like to thank Pam Gregory for giving me this opportunity. Additionally, I would like to extend my thanks to Sarah Tantillo, my PICs alumni, for the support that she has given me both before my internship and throughout my experience.

Last but not least, I would like to thank Princeton in Civic Service for introducing me to this internship and experience.
